CALENDAR of Monthly Operations.

Cauliflower, sow a little in heat. Sow Stocks, and, towards the end of the month, single Dahlias, Petunia, Phlox Drummondii, Pyrethrum, Rhodanthe, for pots, Verbena, Zinnia, Perilla, and other Half-hardy Annuals, on a hotbed.

MARCH.—Sow Turnip, Radish, Broad Beans, Leek, Onion, Borecole, Savoy, Parsnip, Broccoli, and Early Market Carrot; Cucumbers, Melons and Tomatoes sow for succession; plant Potatoes; Cauliflower, a little on a warm border; Cabbage, the Early sorts; Celery, sow in pans; Peas for general crop, Spinach, Lettuce and Parsley; Hardy Annuals in the open border, if weather and other conditions are favourable; Half-Hardy Annuals in frames to transplant.

APRIL.—Sow Broccoli, Asparagus, Intermediate Carrot, Early Turnips, Savoys, Borecole, Cabbage; and at the end of the month sow Dwarf French and Scarlet Runner Beans, Lettuce, Salads, Vegetable Marrow; Beet, Herbs, Parsley, Ridge Cucumber. Continue to sow the Annuals as directed last month. Sow Asters in good heat, and Carnations and Picotees on a slight hotbed.

MAY.—A general sowing of Flower Seeds, for succession or otherwise, may be made in the open borders. Continue to sow the different vegetables, with a few exceptions, as directed for the previous month. Make main sowing of Scarlet Runner Kidney Beans. Form hotbeds, out of doors, for Cucumbers, Melons, and Vegetable Marrows; clear the ground and make the beds ready for Bedding Plants.

JUNE.—Sow Late Crops of Peas, Broccoli for Spring use, Endive, Lettuce, Radish, Spinach, Turnips, and small Salading. Sow Dwarf French and Runner Beans for succession. Plant out all Half-hardy Annuals. Sow Polyanthus and Primrose for blooming following year; also plant Tomatoes out-doors.

JULY.—A few Kidney Beans may be sown; Lettuce, Radish, and a succession of small Salading kept up. A little of Harrisons' Early Kent and Selected Evesham or other Early Cabbage may also be sown. Sow Perennial Flower Seeds such as Brompton Stocks, Sweet Williams, Wallflowers, Silene, Canterbury Bell, etc.

AUGUST.—Make a general sowing of the different sorts of seeds to stand the Winter, as Cabbage, Cauliflower, Lettuce, Radish, Winter Spinach, Tripoli Onion, Lisbon Onion. Sow Perennial Flower Seeds.

SEPTEMBER.—Any of the seeds recommended for August, if not sown, must now be got in without delay. Various Hardy Annuals, if sown now, bloom earlier and stronger the ensuing year; sow a few Vegetable Seeds, as recommended in the preceding month. Remove Endive (tied up for blanching) into a cold frame. With few exceptions Perennials may still be sown.

OCTOBER.—There are but few seeds that require sowing this month, unless any omissions or failures require making good. Bulbs, such as Hyacinths, Daffodils, Tulips, Crocus, etc., of which a separate catalogue may be had, may now be planted, either in glasses, pots, or beds out of doors.

NOVEMBER.—Various Flower Roots, as Crocus, Snowdrops, Anemones, Hyacinths, Narcissus, Tulips, &c., can now be planted. All ground for Spring crop should be well prepared by deep trenching, and where the soil is heavy the surface should be laid up in ridges during the Winter; this will make it ready immediately after levelling to receive the crop. Mulch Rose beds with good horse and cow dung.

DECEMBER.—The ground may be prepared as directed last month; if not already done, and if the weather permits, Sow Peas, Beans, and Short-top Radish under a frame. During frosty weather wheel manure on to the vacant plots ready to be dug in.

A Complete Guide to the Allotment Holder and Kitchen Gardener dealing on Potatoes, Vegetables and Bush Fruits. Price 1/6 each.

 Use Harrisons' VEGETABLE & POTATO MANURE, none better, never fails

JANUARY.—Sow a few of an Early sort of Peas on a sheltered border, also small salads in Pans, which place in hotbeds. Sow the first lot of Tomatoes for an early crop, and at same time some Lobelia, Begonia, and Gloxinia seed in good heat.

FEBRUARY.—Sow Long-pod Beans and Early Peas; plant Shallots without delay; sow Parsley on warm borders and protect; Summer Spinach between the rows of Peas; Melons and Cucumbers in hotbeds; Lettuce, a little of the Early varieties on a hotbed;

TOMATO ("OR LOVE APPLE").

HARRISONS' FILLBASKET (New). The fruit is smooth, quite round and solid, grows in bunches like our Justhething, produces little seed ; skin fine, of a glowing scarlet colour and excellent flavour packet 6d. & 1s.

HARRISONS' JUSTHETHING. This tomato has proved itself to be a grand variety for market or private cultivation. It is exceedingly prolific, nearly globular in shape, and ripens a deep scarlet colour. The foliage is comparatively small, and does not overcrowd the fruit as in many sorts ; it grows short jointed, and sets most freely packet 3d., 6d. & 1s.

Dozens of testimonials have come to hand.

HARRISONS' LEICESTER PROLIFIC. This excellent tomato is of vigorous habit, a very free setter, and produces large clusters of fruit of perfect shape and bright red colour. The flesh is solid and very rich in flavour ; the sections are small, therefore very little seed is produced packet 3d., 6d. & 1s.

HARRISONS' MARVEL. The fruit is of large size, firm, beautiful in appearance, perfect in shape, good bright red colour and is full of flesh, being the shyest seeder we have ever known. It is alike valuable indoor and out, being a very free setter, and the fruit most uniform in size packet 3d., 6d. & 1s.

Harrison & Sons' List of LEADING SEED POTATOES, 1919.

The potatoes that are stocked at our extensive warehouse are kept on trays made for the purpose, which is proved to be the best method of storing during the winter. The yield from seed treated in this manner is far greater than from seed kept in sacks or pies.

Potatoes listed will be Scotch and Lincolnshire grown; practically all the mid-season and main crops will be Scotch; all the varieties are the finest stocks obtainable, and we feel sure will give every satisfaction.

ABBREVIATIONS—(w) white. (k) kidney. (r) round. (o) oval.

 Kindly note that we give 14-lbs. to the stone in potatoes, and that the prices are cheaper in proportion to some of those who list 20-lbs. to the peck. If 20-lbs. is required the price will be charged accordingly. 14-lbs. will plant a row 60-ft.
